Project :

The project aims in designing a system “ Data Security Using Cryptography In Cloud ” .The user must first login/register into the system to access his/her data or medical records. There are three entities involved into the system for its functioning: Admin,User and Cloud .The admin will encrypt all the patients medical records and will be stored in the cloud. The user will be able to access the data only after accessing the request from the admin. The system provides security at each level of its functioning so that it is not been accessed by the third party outside the system using cryptographic techniques .To provide integrity to the data, mac code is generated to check whether the data has been altered or not .
